Woman is killed as four cars crash

A WOMAN died and five other people were injured in a four car collision in Cradley Heath.

The major incident happened on Waterfall Lane just before noon yesterday.

A woman in her 80s, a passenger in one of the cars, died at the scene and an elderly man was taken to Birmingham Queen Elizabeth Hospital with serious injuries.

West Midlands Ambulance Service said six people were involved in the crash. Of the five injured, three were walking wounded. Three were taken to Russells Hall Hospital and one to Sandwell Hospital.

West Midlands Ambulance Service was called at 11.50am and responded with four land ambulances and two air ambulances.

On the scene were a responder paramedic, an area support officer, senior paramedic officer, the Midlands Air Ambulance from Cosford with trauma doctor on board and a second air ambulance from Strensall.

A West Midlands Ambulance Service spokeswoman said: "The passenger of one car, an elderly woman, was in cardiac arrest. Ambulance staff carried out CPR on the woman but sadly, despite best efforts, nothing could be done to save her."

CORONER'S CALL ON LORRY SAFETY

Messy hands make tidy sum for charity

A NURSERY in Rowley Regis had fundraising at their fingertips when they painted with their hand prints to raise pounds for a cancer charity.

Children at Humpty Dumpty Day Nursery got their hands messy when they took part in a hand painting project to raise money for Cancer Research.

Prints

Staff at the child care centre on Marlow Street organised for the children to use paints to colour in a huge picture of Humpty Dumpty.

No paintbrushes were allowed and the children got stuck in using their hand prints to bring the nursery character to life.

The event has raised more than £300 for charity Cancer Research and donations are still coming in.

The hand painting project was organised by staff over a number of weeks so that all 49 children who attend the nursery could take part.

Claire Brinton at the nursery said: "All the children got involved and really enjoyed getting messy."

"Each child has fundraised themselves and each child was given a sponsorship form.

"The picture is that big we struggled to find space on the floor while we completed it but it was great fun to do.

Display

"Children used their handprints to colour the whole picture of Humpty sitting on his wall and we are going to display it proudly at the top of our staircase so all the parents can see it."

The nursery for children aged six weeks to preschool is open from Monday to Friday.

For more information about the nursery call 0121 561 3902.

Report by Alex Ross

A CORONER is calling on the Department of Transport to look again at regulations over mirrors on older lorries after a war veteran was knocked down and killed by a skip lorry.

The inquest heard that as the driver pulled away at traffic lights he was unable to see the 90-year-old under his front windscreen.

The lorry driven by Geoffrey Hawkins ran over Royal British Legion fundraiser Arnold Soulsby at the crossroad junction of Bank Street and Dudley Road in Brierley Hill.

Fitted

An inquest at Dudley Coroners' Court was told the lorry had no forward-facing mirrors, which created a blind spot in front of the vehicle.

Under recent regulations brought in by the Department For Transport (DfT), all heavy goods vehicles made since 2007 must have the mirrors fitted.

Black Country Coroner Robin Balmain, who concluded Mr Arnold died from multiple injuries, said he was to write to the DfT.

He revealed that he had dealt with six similar cases in the past seven years.

Mr Soulsby's daughter, Susan Rowley, told the hearing said she was 'alarmed' the regulation did not apply to all heavy goods vehicles.

Mr Balmain said: "For whatever reason it wasn't felt necessary to make the regulation retrospective, so it applied to new vehicles, but not to older vehicles."

"I don't know why that was done. It might be something to do with the fitting and cost of doing it but I do share Mrs Rowley's concern.

"I think this is far from an isolated incident, I think I ought to draw it to Department of Transport's attention to see if they will make steps to make it retrospective."

"I do intend to write to department if the matter can be considered again to see if anything can be done."

Mr Hawkins had been driving the lorry to Halesowen when he pulled up at a red light in Bank Street just after 1pm on January 30 last year.

Asked by Mr Balmain if he had seen Mr Soulsby, he replied 'no'.

Mr Soulsby, a retired engineer, lived in Miles Court in John Street. He served in the Royal Navy during the Second World War.

FBI led swoops in the Black Country

THREE people have been arrested in the Midlands, including one in Halesowen, as part of an international cybercrime operation coordinated by the FBI.

The men, aged 19, 20 and 23, were arrested from homes in Halesowen, Erdington and Newcastle-under-Lyme on suspicion of the unlawful use of a Remote Access Tool called 'Blackshades'. A fourth address was raided in Wolverhampton.

The operation targeted software which can remotely control computers and webcams. The 'malware' is said to have infected more than 500,000 computers since 2010.

People are typically infected by clicking on external links on social networking and communication platforms. The victim unwittingly installs the malware. In many cases, those affected will have no idea their device has been infected.

Investigators believe that around 200,000 usernames and passwords of victims across the world may have been extracted by Blackshades users in the UK.

The three men arrested from the Midlands have now been released on police bail.

It is understood that 15 arrests took place in England and two in Scotland.

Scarlet fever cases increase

MORE than 440 cases of scarlet fever were reported across the Black Country and Staffordshire in eight months, a 500 per cent rise.

There were 370 more children reported with the illness between last September and May this year compared to the same period a year earlier when it was 74.

In Dudley there were 79 compared to 13 last year. Sandwell had 46 with nine the previous year. But the rate of cases being reported nationally is slowing down.

Army reserve squadron to expand

AN ARMY reserve squadron which was once part of one of the Midlands' oldest TA regiments will expand by a third under ambitious recruitment plan.

The announcement has been made after soldiers from the Royal Mercian and Lancastrian Yeomanry gathered at their base in Dudley to watch their flag lowered for the last time as part of changes being introduced by the Ministry of Defence. As part of the ceremony the red, blue and yellow flag of the RMLY was replaced with A Squadron's own standard. However, this will soon be replaced by the green, white and yellow standard of the Royal Yeomanry.

New badges were also revealed as part of changes as the Government re-structures the Territorial Army into the Army Reserve. Members of A Squadron in Dudley will take on the role of a light cavalry unit providing a reconnaissance during operations as part of the Royal Yeomanry, which has its headquarters in Croydon.

Earlier this year it was feared that the centre in Vicar Street, Dudley, would close but MP Ian Austin secured a commitment from Government ensuring Dudley's Army Reserve squadron will be able to expand. The squadron has around 60 soldiers but plans to recruit around 25 to 30 more to the unit.

Captain Andy Peters, Permanent Staff Administration Officer, said: "We did have uncertainty over the base but we are staying open and we are going to expand and continue to recruit."

More wardens are needed at crossings

MORE lollipop men and women are needed to help young children cross busy roads in Halesowen, say council bosses.

Dudley Council is calling for applicants for five warden vacancies in Halesowen as it tries to increase safety for pupils walking to and from schools.

Among the roads needing wardens are Huntingtree Road, Whittingham Road, Rosemary Road, Portsdown Road and Carters Lane.

Children using the crossings attend Huntingtree Primary School, Newfield Park Primary, Lutley Primary and Lapal Primary.

The vacancies come despite the council needing to make £34 million of cuts over three years. Other councils, including Walsall, have identified lollipop men and women as an area to make savings.

Community litter pick on estate

A COMMUNITY litter pick is to take place on a Halesowen housing estate next weekend.

The Tanhouse Tenants and Residents Association is organising a group of litter pickers to tidy up the estate.

Volunteers will meet at the green at Sadlers Close on Sunday, June 1, at 10am and the clean up will last two hours. The association is inviting volunteers of all ages but children must be accompanied.

Pride

Andrea Pope-Smith, director of adult, community and housing services at Dudley Council, said: "It's brilliant that Tanhouse TRA have arranged this litter pick on their estate. They have real pride for the area. Such initiatives show how everyone can work together for the betterment of the locality."

"Through our Love Your Community campaign we are keen to work closer with the local community to help make Dudley be a great place to live and work."

Bags, high visibility jackets, litter pickers and gloves will be provided. To take part, just turn up on the day.

Safety

The wardens operate across the Dudley borough to encourage children and families to walk to school and provide support in crossing the road. Dudley's service recently celebrated its 60th anniversary.

Paula Evans, administration head at Lapal Primary School, welcomed the move for more wardens. She said: "We have got a lot of children walking on their own to school as they approach Year 6. Wardens across busy roads like Caters Lane ensure their safety crossing roads."

John Millar, director of urban environment, said: "The school crossing patrol service is a long standing service provided by the council and is a really rewarding job. If anyone would like to apply for one of these part time posts I would urge them to get in touch."

The posts are for five to seven hours a week. There are 88 regular lollipop lady and men with nine back-up staff.

Charity ride is tribute to partner

In the saddle Len Phipps, 69, with fellow Georgina Unit fundraiser Karen Phillips

HE is approaching his 70th birthday but Len Phipps is hard at work preparing for a 140-mile cycle ride in tribute to his late partner. The retired sales manager is to ride from the birthplace of Carol McKie in Nelson, Lancashire, to Himley Hall to raise money for Georgina Unit at Russells Hall Hospital in Dudley.

The couple were together for 13 years and lived in Laburnum Road, Kingswinford, before Mrs McKie was diagnosed with bladder cancer in 2006. She fought bravely against it but died in May last year, aged 66.

Mr Phipps decided to take on the cycling challenge in his partner's memory and began training a year ago. He said: "I was blessed to be her partner for 13 years and feel so fortunate to have shared my life with this amazing woman."

Mother-of-three Mrs McKie, an office worker at the Ridgewood High School in Stourbridge, moved to the West Midlands in 1981. To donate visit www.justgiving.com/Len-Phipps2

Motorbike business plans new showroom

A MOTORBIKE sales and repairs centre is planning to relocate to a new showroom.

Streetbike is based at the top of Mucklow Hill, Halesowen, opposite the Stag and Three Horseshoes pub.

Now plans are in the pipeline for the company to move its base to the site of a former electrical store in the town.

Bosses have submitted plans for a change of use to convert the former Comet store, in Dudley Road.

Cafe

The premises have been empty for several years, according to documents presented to Dudley Council's planning department.

The building will be retained while bosses ask for permission to transform the inside to allow for a motorbike repair and MOT testing area.

Parts of the building would also be set aside for motorbike sales floors, parts shop, clothing and equipment, offices and a potential cafe area.

Bosses from the firm say the cafe is a fundamental part of the current site and helps create a 'social hub' for riders from around the West Midlands.

Continental market visits

A CONTINENTAL market will transform West Bromwich town centre into a bustling European market next week as stall holders from across the continent return to the Black Country.

The fair from May 29 until May 31, and will feature more stalls than ever before and it is hoped it will bring new shoppers into the town.

Organiser Olivier Simonin said: "We have new professional continental market traders from France, Belgium, Italy, Spain, Holland, Poland and many more countries."

Teenaged driver in city centre car chase

A TEENAGER from Dudley stole a car and was chased by police in Birmingham city centre. Zohabe Akbar, 18, pleaded guilty at Dudley Magistrates Court to stealing a Volkswagen Golf and driving dangerously in Broad Street.

Akbar, of Norman Street, Dixons Green, narrowly missed three pedestrians as he mounted the pavement to get away from an unmarked police car on April 17. The teenager, who had to be forcibly removed from the car, pleaded guilty to failing to stop, having no driving licence or insurance.

After a one mile pursuit, officers arrested Akbar, who had two passengers, Miss Jayne Yeomans, prosecuting, said: "Police were informed that a car stolen from Dudley was driving on Paradise Circus towards Broad Street at 4.30pm. The area was very busy.

"The car turned into Gas Street where an unmarked police car turned on its sirens and indicated to the car to stop but Akbar accelerated and narrowly missed a pedestrian."

Mr Peter Jordan, defending, said: "Akbar disagrees with some of the details of his driving." He will be sentenced at Wolverhampton Crown Court on June 11.

Children seek help on drugs

HUNDREDS of children have been referred for drug and alcohol treatment in the past two years in the Black Country.

In Dudley 141 youngsters accessed those services in 2012/13. Seven of them were aged nine to 12.

Dudley Councillor Susan Ridney, who chairs the borough's health scrutiny committee, said: "I am just concerned, with general cut-backs, that these figures do not creep up."

The most common means for children to come into contact with drugs and alcohol is through their parents.

Motorcyclist killed in France by sleeping driver

Keen cyclist David Cook

A FATHER-OF-TWO was killed during a motorcycling holiday in southern France when an 80-year-old woman fell asleep at the wheel of her car, an inquest heard.

Halesowen-born David Cook, 41, suffered internal bleeding and three heart attacks after being hit head-on by French pensioner Ginette Bock whose car was on the wrong side of the road, Cannock Coroner's Court heard.

Mr Cook had been riding behind his friend Bernie Brinkmann, from Stourbridge, on the D900 at Goulst, north of Marseille, when the tragedy occurred just before 5.30pm on June 14 last year.

He was flown by air ambulance to hospital in Marseille where he was later pronounced dead.

Both men would go on motorbiking holidays across the Continent together and were highly experienced riders, the court was told.

Normally Mr Cook, of Wombourne, would ride in front with Mr Brinkmann following.

Swerved

"Mr Brinkmann could see in the distance a car on the wrong side of the road and thought as it got nearer it would cross back on to the correct side," South Staffordshire coroner Andrew Haigh said.

"But it didn't and at the last minute Mr Brink-mann swerved to the side of the road toward the crash barrier. He saw in his mirror that the car collided with David pretty much head-on."

Mr Brinkmann said: "David always travelled in front and for some reason he just said you go in the front and I'll go at the back. We were in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Bock was convicted of involuntary homicide by motor vehicle in a French court.

Mr Cook worked at Evans and White Ltd, Kingswinford. He is survived by wife Joy, son Adam and daughter Chloe.

Mr Haigh concluded death due to multiple injuries caused by road traffic collision.

Thief's S20LUN plate led to police busting parts racket

Report by Alex Ross

A COCKY crook behind a £1 million car theft racket has been jailed – after he was spotted by police driving a sports car with a number plate spelling out 'stolen'.

Shanwaz Khan's operation to strip stolen cars for parts that were sold on got noticed by police when he was seen driving an Audi RS4 with the personalised number plate of S20LUN. It was part of a convoy of stolen Mercedes cars being driven in Birmingham.

Officers discovered that the 30-year-old was behind a ring that stole and stripped down cars at industrial units, including in Dudley and Tipton, to sell on as parts via the internet.

A court heard that in total the police linked the brash criminal to more than 80 vehicle thefts and violent carjackings during 2012.

The vehicles were processed at various industrial premises across the Black Country and Birmingham.

Their crimes produced a stolen goods haul valued at £1.1 million.

Brother

Khan, of Marsh Lane in Erdington, Birmingham, was jailed for seven years at Birmingham Crown Court after admitted conspiracy to commit burglary and handle stolen goods.

His brother Wajid Khan, aged 24, of Brookvale Road, Erdington, and his cousin Seyed Khan, 32, of Marsh Lane, received 30-month prison sentences after admitting conspiracy to handle stolen goods.

Fellow conspirators in the racket Ross and Matthew Dunham, aged 21 and 24, of Charter Avenue in Canley, Coventry, were jailed for five years and 39 months respectively after admitting conspiracy to commit burglaries.

Detective Constable Mo Azir, said: "The brazen attitude of Shanwaz Khan was typified by his personalised number plate.

"This was a clear jibe at the authorities and he believed his underground theft racket was going unnoticed.

"The joke is on him now, though, as he starts a long prison term."

The Audi RS4 with the provocative plate that was noticed by police

He explained: "We meticulously pieced together their network of premises and, when officers raided one unit in Aston, we found an Aladdin's cave of stolen cars and parts.

"Many of these were high-value luxury cars that had been brutally chopped up, whilst another premises in the city centre was used exclusively to store engines ripped from the stolen cars.

"The scale of their criminal operation was vast and they showed a complete disregard to the trail of destruction and misery left behind to victims of these offences."

After Shanwaz Khan was spotted with the number plate in March in 2012, a six-month investigation led officers to the four other members of the crime ring.

The gang were linked to a total of 82 vehicle thefts during 2012.

They included a petrol station violent car-jacking at the Total garage in Kingsbury Road, Erdington, on August 29 when a man was dragged from behind the wheel of his £25,000 Ford Focus ST.

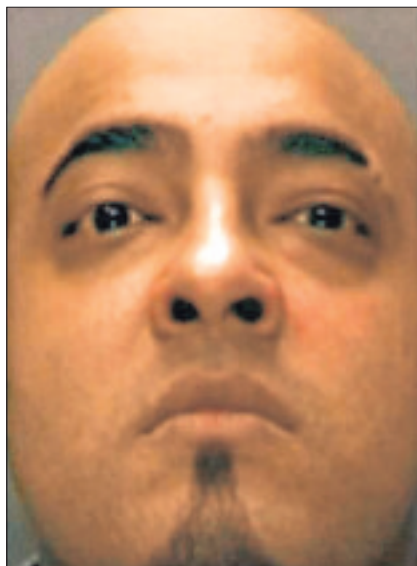

Two Mercedes C Class cars were also taken from a driveway in Grovefield Crescent, Balsall Common, on April 27.

In another incident a Seat Leon car was taken from a house in Coventry on June 11.

Engines

Shanwaz Khan stripped down the vehicles and stored the parts at industrial units in Cheston Road, Netchells, at Northfield Road in Dudley, at the Kings Industrial Estate in Tipton and in Orphanage Road in Erdington.

He also rented space at City Self Storage, in Curzon Street, Digbeth, to stash stolen engines before shipping many of them abroad.

Arrogant criminal Shanwaz Khan's joke backfired

More than 3,000 parts stripped from the stolen cars were sold on to unwitting internet buyers via an eBay account operated by the car thieves.

Detective Constable Azir said: "The premises were leased by the Khans using false names and documentation. Many of the cars were stolen to order for engines which the Khans shipped out to the continent."

Now the criminals are likely to pay financially for their activities too.

Det Con Azir added: "All five are subject of on-going Proceeds of Crime Act investigations and we'll look to seize any assets obtained through criminal activities."

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

DESPITE the sacking of a BBC presenter, the unexpurgated 1932 version of The Sun Has Got His Hat On can still be found online via Google. Mind you, the European Court of Justice now says Google should recognise the "right to be forgotten" and remove search results that members of the public find awkward or embarrassing. We can probably look forward to a golden age when nothing nasty can be found and online searches reveal only nice things: Gordon Brown: finest economist of his generation. Tony Blair: peace-bringer to the Middle East. Adolf Hitler: popular European politician and champion of the toothbrush moustache.

ONE snag with the court's ruling on Google is that many of us share the same name. Thus, Google will tell you that "Peter Rhodes is a veteran BBC producer," "Peter Rhodes is a Chartered Psychologist," "Peter Rhodes is a London-based illustrator" and "Peter Rhodes is a waste of ink." Only one of these applies to me (no prizes) but am I entitled to have them all deleted?

WHEN it was announced that a new film was to be made of Dad's Army, there was much gnashing of teeth from those who believe the sheer brilliance of Dad's Army cannot be replicated. So it was worthwhile watching last weekend's repeat The Two and a Half Fathers (BBC2) which was badly conceived, badly written, badly acted and painfully embarrassing. Some of the 80 episodes hit unforgettable heights of comedy and poignancy. And some were awful.

RESEARCHERS in California have discovered that polar bears have evolved uniquely to live on a high-fat diet that would kill any human. This, according to one report, is why polar bears never need to diet. Another reason polar bears never need to diet is that they stand nine feet tall, have razor-sharp claws and nobody ever calls them a lardarse.

Meeting hears concern at female crime wave

ALMOST 13,000 women were arrested in the West Midlands last year — prompting a summit meeting aimed at cutting the female crime wave.

The number of women arrested represented 13 per cent of the total number of people held by police in the region last year.

Women's groups, counsellors, domestic abuse specialists and reformed criminals had their say at the conference Offender Management: a Female Perspective, held at the police training centre in Edgbaston, last week.

Sergeant Helen Carver from West Midlands Police's Offender management team, said: "The causes of offending amongst women tend to be more complex than men. They are often coerced or bullied into committing offences, like theft, by an abusive partner.

"Rather than quickly process them through custody, we need to develop better understanding of what triggers their crimes to make it less likely they offend again. That involves greater understanding by police officers and more joined up working with partner agencies who can offer support to break their offending cycle.

"That could be counselling, help to leave an abusive relationship, employment training, or drug and alcohol support services."

Around 80 per cent of

by John Scott

women in prison report physical, sexual or emotional abuse within their family or relationships, whilst more than half say unemployment and a lack of skills drive their offending.

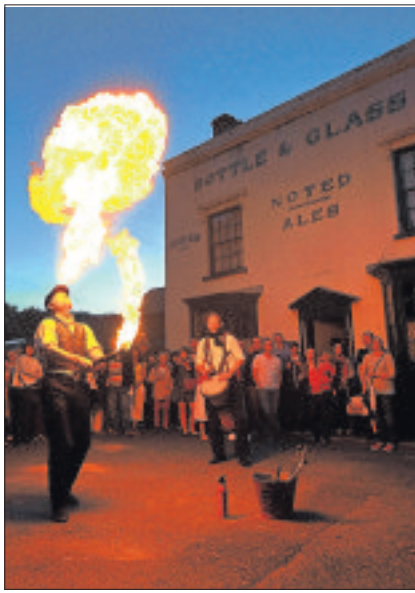

Studies have also shown women are around four times more likely to have mental health concerns, especially self-harm issues.

Sgt Carver added: "It is these kinds of issues police need to identify when vulnerable women are brought into custody, so we can refer them to support groups.

"One possibility we're looking at is getting staff from women's groups into custody blocks to help with that process.

"We know female offenders are more likely than males to respond positively to interventions and support to reduce their re-offending. I am hopeful the summit will lead to some positive action."

Museum glows back in time

Paul Morris breathing fire at the Black Country Living Museum

THE night sky glowed red like a fiery furnace as a museum showcased life in the industrial heartland of the Black Country.

Families packed into the Black Country Living Museum in Dudley for its Red by Night event under the stars on Saturday.

As the sun set, the fun began as the heritage museum joined other attractions across the country to take part in the annual Museums at Night festival in which attractions open up in the evening.

The museum village was alive with colour as darkness descended with demonstrations including an impressive fire show outside the Bottle and Glass Inn.

Hundreds gathered to watch as demonstrator and fire juggler Paul 'Moggy' Morris breathed flames over the heads of the crowds.

They also had the chance to see many of the museum's main exhibits as they had never seen them before, by candlelight.

During the evening Dudley College students put on a range of dramatic performances.

Hotel chain recruit 36 for Black Country HQ

A HOTELS group is taking on 36 sales staff at its Black Country bookings centre.

InterContinental Hotels Group, which includes Holiday Inn and Crowne Plaza, has its UK guest centre at Oak Court in Dudley Road, Brierley Hill.

The centre, which is open 5am to 10pm seven days a week, currently employs 250.

Human resources manager Sophie Meachem said that the new jobs were because of growth of business at the centre, which takes bookings mainly from the UK but also deals with international reservations when overseas centres are shut.

World

The full time jobs, which involve answering calls from guests booking in at more than 4,600 group hotels around the world, carry a basic salary of £15,838.

Reservation sales specialists will be working shifts between 7am and 10pm.

The Brierley Hill centre, which also has a dedicated team serving the Middle East, has been going for more than 25 years.

The group has Holiday Inn hotels at Wolverhampton and Walsall and a Holiday Inn Express at Oldbury.

It also owns several chains. To apply for jobs contact (01384) 890918.

Asbestos exposure kills after 60 years

A FORMER factory worker died from cancer caused by exposure to asbestos, an inquest was told.

Heather Spires was a packer and cleaner at the Bluebird toffee factory, in Hunnington, near Halesowen, early in her working life.

Smethwick Coroners Court was told that while cleaning she had often had to go into a boiler room where pipes were lagged with asbestos.

Mrs Spires, 77, was diagnosed with mesothelioma of the abdominal cavity last July. She died at Netherton Green Nursing Home, in Bowling Green Road, Netherton, on May 12.

Her daughter Karen Morton told the inquest her mother had been ill for some time before the diagnosis.

Mrs Morton said: "She started work at the factory in 1952 at around the age of 16. She used to have to go into the boiler room where the pipes were lagged with asbestos."

Assistant Deputy Coroner Angus Smillie concluded that Bromsgrove-born Mrs Spires, a non-smoker, had died as the result of an industrial disease.

He said: "What a lot of people do not know is that you do not have to come into contact with asbestos for a long period of time to contract this condition."

Staff in talks as company brings in administrators

ADMINISTRATORS for a struggling garden and leisure goods supply company are hopeful of securing new buyers for the firm.

Solus Garden & Leisure has brought in administrators PwC after struggling to get investment.

Talks are under way with staff at the company's headquarters in Hunnington, near Halesowen. The firm also operates from locations in West Bromwich and Tipton.

A total of 63 jobs are at risk in Hunnington, 16 in West Bromwich and three in Tipton. A further 90 positions are at the company's Droitwich premises while 78 people are employed elsewhere in the country.

Rob Hunt and Tony Barrell of PwC have been appointed joint administrators of the firm. They said the 'immediate priority' was talks with staff, key customers and suppliers with the aim of continuing to trade.

Achievable

Mr Barrell said: "We believe this is achievable. We are pleased to confirm employees will be paid for work done prior to our appointment and while they continue to work."

He added there were already a number of parties interested in buying the business, saying: "We are hopeful of securing a sale."

Administrators said the company, a leading supplier of wholesale garden and leisure products, had started seeking additional investment late last year due to difficult trading conditions.

The firm's directors were in discussions for some weeks with a range of parties to try and secure the investment. However, while interest was shown in the business, no offers had provided a possible outcome leading to directors deciding to place the company into administration.

The company also has 17 staff in Edinburgh, 36 in Norwich and 25 who are mobile. It reported a turnover of £29.3 million in the six months to March 30 this year.

The company's website says that Mr Hunt and Mr Barrell have been appointed as joint administrators to 'manage its affairs, business and property as its agents'.

The business was first established more than 30 years ago.

Survivor rallying Race for Life entrants

Cancer survivor Karen Garrison with her daughter Lucy, seven, middle, with her friends who are taking part in Race For Life

SHE had to give up her job as a nurse, but mother-of-two Karen Garrison has battled back from cancer and is now enrolling friends and family in her fight against the disease.

Karen Garrison was aged 41 when a tumour was discovered in her bowel, sparking surgery and a gruelling six-month course of chemotherapy.

Mrs Garrison, of Cradley Heath, has been clear of cancer for two years and is calling on people to join her 35-strong team in entering Cancer Research UK's 5km Race for Life event at Himley Hall on July 13.

Mrs Garrison's team, dubbed Rowley WAGS, includes her seven-year-old daughter Lucy.

Karen said: "I was told there was a 50 per cent chance my cancer could come back, most probably within the first two years after treatment. I've just made it past that two year marker."

"My daughter will be joining the Rowley WAGS, 25 adults and 10 youngsters, to race with her mum and help me get my own back on cancer. I want to help others by supporting Cancer Research UK's work. Our aim is that one day everyone will beat cancer."

Jane Redman, Cancer Research UK spokesperson, said: "We're calling on an army of feisty females to help us stop cancer in its tracks. Race for Life events are not competitive. They are an amazing way to celebrate life but also remember those who have been lost to the disease."

NEWS in brief

MP vows support for Carers' Week

AN MP has pledged his support for carers across Sandwell as part of the national campaign Carers Week to boost awareness.

To show his support for local carers, John Spellar, MP for Warley, met representatives of Carers Week (starts June 9) supporting charities in Parliament - including Carers UK, Age UK, Carers Trust, Independent Age, Macmillan Cancer Support, Marie Curie Cancer Care, MS Society and Parkinson's UK.

He said: "Carers make a hugely valuable contribution to society and they need support to carry on the work they do. Without carers the UK would face a £119 billion care bill. That is why I am supporting this campaign to reach out to carers."

IN MY VIEW

WITH MARK ANDREWS

YOU can tell it's election time when White Dee's antics in Magaluf seems like a pleasant respite from the wall-to-wall platitudes being churned out by our political leaders.

It seems the star of Benefits Street has left her life on the sofa behind, and has found work in the Spanish resort.

Not grafting in an office or factory, you understand. Or even a few shifts serving behind a bar. But, nevertheless, it does appear Dee Kelly has found some kind of gainful employment: knocking back shots in nightclubs, judging wet T-shirt competitions, all the kind of messy, menial work that the locals wouldn't want to do. It's a tough slog, but Magaluf welcomes hard-working immigrants who go there to contribute to the economy.

"I am taking casual work," she admitted. "I won't tell you how much I am earning but it's not half as much as people think."

Incredibly, White Dee has even been tipped for a role in Celebrity Big Brother.

Not that she is quite ready to retire from the benefits lifestyle just yet. According to her agent (yes, really) it is out of the question that Miss Kelly should have her benefits stopped.

"I'm trying to get Dee fit for work," said Barry Tones, alluding to mysterious healing powers.

"Once she does that, she will be able to earn good money."

Well people less reasonable than myself might wonder how somebody who has an agent, has released a rap record and has had sessions as a DJ in Birmingham nightclubs is not fit for some kind of regular work.

But the one question nobody has bothered to ask is whether Miss Kelly really exists.

Isn't it a bit convenient that the latest scandal has broken in the same week as the national and European elections? And that David Cameron has taken the opportunity to come out fighting, suggesting that he would personally intervene to ensure White Dee is not claiming benefits she should not be receiving?

Call me a mad conspiracy theorist if you like, but has it ever occurred to anybody that White Dee is not a real person, but an actress working for one of the political parties to whip up as much public anger as possible? It's the same about former Apprentice candidate Katie Hopkins, who has since carved out a media career making spiteful right-wing comments about anybody who does not fit in with her vision of society. She's got to be working for the Labour Party, surely?

For all we know, there could be a whole network of undercover spin doctors secretly working in the television industry.

There probably isn't, of course. But just because you're paranoid, it doesn't mean they aren't out to get you.

The market where Boparan's career began

The 2 Sisters factory, in Dial Lane, West Bromwich

Supermarkets are flagging up British food

'Chicken king' who reigns on rich list

From butcher's boy to a billionaire he champions British brand, as DANIEL WAINWRIGHT discovers

THEY call him the 'chicken king'. Ranjit Singh Boparan heads a business turning over £3 billion a year supplying poultry to KFC, Sainsbury's and Tesco.

His 2 Sisters Food Group, with factories in Smethwick, West Bromwich and Wolverhampton, is part of a business empire that employs 24,000 people.

It is good going for a former butcher's shop boy from Bilston who left school at 16 with very few qualifications. Mr Boparan and his wife Baljinder have a fortune of £1.3 billion, meaning they top the list of the richest Asians in the West Midlands.

Brand

Various profile pieces about him list the butcher's shop as being in Bilston. Which one, Mr Boparan has not said, although it is believed to be one of the stalls on Bilston Indoor Market. It is understood he began working in the shop at the age of 11.

The 47-year-old champions the idea of a 'British' brand that everyone should work together to promote. But he does not do interviews with the media. His business includes some household names including the fish and chip restaurant chain Harry Ramsden's as well as Northern Foods, the producer of Goodfella's and San Marco frozen pizzas and Fox's Biscuits.

He started the 2 Sisters group in West Bromwich in 1993 with a small loan. Since then the business has grown, acquiring more and more others.

In the year to August 2009, 2 Sisters'

Ranjit Singh Boparan – the West Midlands billionaire promoting British brand sales increased 28 per cent to £649.4 million, with pre-tax profits up 33 per cent to £33.9 million, leaving a £12 million dividend for the family – an impressive feat during a recession. It is now recognised as the country's second largest food production company.

Northern Foods, which also makes Marks & Spencer ready meals, was added to his portfolio in 2011 having seen off a rival based in Dublin. No-one had been able to match Mr Boparan's £342 million cash offer.

With Asda and Morrisons also on the list of companies supplied by 2 Sisters it is no wonder that Mr Boparan has acquired the nickname 'chicken king'. British Airways and Harrods are customers too.

Although profits soared during the recession, the business has not been immune from its ups and downs. 2 Sisters confirmed recently it would be shutting its Solway Foods site in Corby, where 930 people make chilled products such as salads and coleslaws.

Losses within Boparan Holdings, the parent company of which Mr and Mrs

Boparan are the sole shareholders, almost doubled in a year to £27.5 million.

Sales were up, however, by 35 per cent to £848 million – boosted by the takeover of meat and chicken processing business Vion a year ago.

In a rare public appearance in February, Mr Boparan took part in a debate held by the National Farmers Union and talked about the importance of a British brand in promoting food produced in the UK. And he would know about what people want and buy, having sold it to them every day in the Black Country.

Former Wolverhampton mayor Bert Turner, a councillor in Bilston, says people remember Mr Boparan working at the market.

"He was on the big meat stall," he says. "He wasn't the owner but he started there working with two or three others."

Example

The President of the Black Country Chamber of Commerce, Ninder Johal, says that Mr Boparan's story is an example of how anything is possible.

He says: "It is brilliant to have such a success story in the Black Country. "It shows that from humble beginnings young people can aspire to get to the very top.

Mrs Boparan plays a major role with the Boparan Charitable Trust, which is based in Birmingham and raises money to help disabled and disadvantaged children throughout the UK.

Also on the board is the couple's son Antonio Singh Boparan. The family was rocked in 2006 when a Range Rover Antonio, then aged 19, was driving crashed into a Jeep, leaving 11-month old Cerys Edwards with brain damage and in need of 24-hour care.

Ranjit and Baljinder Boparan pledged a substantial cash gift to Cerys's family and to set up a trust fund for her and other injured children.

POLITICS

WITH DANIEL WAINWRIGHT

I'M a little worried some people might fall into the trap of thinking that today's vote will make a scrap of difference when it comes to Britain being in or out of the European Union. It won't.

Only the Parliament in Westminster can give us a referendum. Whether you vote Ukip or anyone else today will not amount to a hill of beans on that burning issue.

The debate in recent weeks has turned towards being in or out of the EU. There's enormous concern over just how many of our laws originate in Brussels and whether or not our borders are really ours to control.

What doesn't get picked up on as much is it was the former Labour government that decided to open the borders to Eastern Europeans in 2004 while the Germans and French prevented them from working in their countries until 2011.

That was something that happened in London, not Brussels. It might have started on the continent, but it was our own MPs who chose to enact it.

It would also be easy to find the rest of the debates in the European Parliament about as dull as a Eurovision song contest without the dancing milkmaids.

Some of the subjects MEPs tackle on a daily basis are not exactly going to be the ones that people are talking about over the dinner table.

Websites

Press releases issued by some serving West Midlands MEPs recently have included one who was pleased travel websites have to now give information on how to complain and another who won an award in recognition of his work to ensure exhaust pipes were checked for air pollution.... Yawn.

The EU and its Parliament affects people's lives in many ways. One of the things it enforces was the need for websites to flash up messages asking if people are prepared to accept 'cookies' – those little bits of data sent from a site to the user's browser that lets the site 'remember' them.

Nikki Sinclair, the former Ukip member who founded her own group called We Demand A Referendum Now used her position to gather more than 100,000 signatures on a petition calling for just that.

But it was the UK Parliament that ended up acting on that petition, debating the matter and then throwing it out.

The people we're choosing to represent us as MEPs can deal with the continent-wide issues on immigration, jobs, investment and the environment. They are not the ones that are going to get us out of or keep us in the union.

That's one for the General Election. You have at least another year of this row to listen to.

A great day out ruined by dog owners

A GREAT visit to Himley Hall — what a great initiative by Dudley Council during the late 1980s to take on full control of this national heritage.

I visited the exhibition and seated on a bench. It was idyllic, the weather, a mother and friend playing with a young baby and toddler on the grass.

Then a puppy sized black coloured terrier type dog, on a long uncontrollable lead, was allowed to run within ten feet of the family group, yapping in delight.

The dog couple, having difficulty controlling their mutt, seemed oblivious to a mother, friend, young baby and toddler enjoying their freedom on the grassed area.

The dog was allowed to aggressively yap at the party, while those in apparent 'control' failed as responsible dog owners to attempt to fulfil their legal responsibilities.

Unfortunately the couple in their late fifties or early sixties allowed their animal to relieve itself, in solid form, less than ten feet from the group that had been allowing the eldest child to crawl around on the cut grass.

There was no attempt to retrieve the bowel movement or apologise to the family. They just walked off with the offending, uncontrolled mutt.

As a family, we have owned a number of pets including three dogs and are fully aware that the responsibility morally and legally rests with the owners.

I have passed on the registration number of the car of the 'offenders' in this case to Dudley Council and hopefully the appropriate action will be taken.

Wasting our money on foreign aid

THE NHS is in trouble due to lack of funds.

Old people's nursing homes are closing down due to lack of funds, drugs that could prolong a patient's life, or at least ease some of their suffering, are too costly — yet Cameron insists on sending millions in aid abroad each day.

I'm sure they could find better use for these amounts in England. It should be spent on the NHS and old people.

Next to none of the money of ours that he wastes goes to the people who need it — the despots just pile it in their bank accounts.

Even MPs have said they don't know where the money goes, but I feel sure Mugabe and co do know where it goes.

It's time he was made to stop wasting our money and today's elections could be an important start.

Maglev would beat HS2 for rail speed

YET again our lords and masters have gone off half-cocked. If we must have HS2 why should we rely on outdated technology? Why not make HS2 a Maglev (a British invention)? Has no-one considered this?

At least we would have something a little different to boast about, and we would have a proper high speed line too! 220 mph is nothing when compared to the normal cruising speed of Maglev.

Of course the oil barons and their shareholders would lose out, but let's face it, who cares about them? They make altogether too much money as it is.

And we wouldn't need to import the railway track from Austria (the largest rail factory in Europe, thanks to certain officials) and we wouldn't have to import locomotives and rolling stock either — we could make them all, and the economy would benefit even more.

Just an idea!

Guarantee call on Euro referendum

OUR Dudley South Conservative MP Mr Chris Kelly said in 'The Way I See It' column in Dudley Chronicle on May 8 that his was the only party that would guarantee a referendum, to be held in 2017, on British membership of the European Union.

If as a result of the 2015 General Election, the Tories are given the opportunity to organise a referendum and the decision of the British people is to withdraw from the European Union, will he give a cast-iron guarantee that this will happen?

I ask the question because a quality Sunday newspaper recently stated that Mr Cameron had been asked to give this commitment but had refused to do so — allegedly because of pressure from big business interests.

Over to you Mr Kelly.

Group takes a trip back to the 60s

PENN TG

MRS McInnes welcomed everyone to the April meeting and reminded members of the arrangements for the birthday evening in May.

She then introduced the speaker Ray Sturdy to give a slide show taking members on a nostalgic journey through the 60s.

The 60s began with more young people in Europe and America than previously experienced.

The group was reminded of the comedy, food, cars, music, politics, major events like the Coronation and the assassination of President Kennedy and much more.

He delivered his talk with humour and great enthusiasm.

Level

The Gardening Group went to Birmingham Library to see the Discovery Terrace and the Secret Garden on the seventh floor and then up again to the Skyline Viewpoint 51 metres above street level.

Anna Marie from Beacon Centre for the Blind was the Social Studies speaker.

The Blind Institute was established in 1875.

In 1961, seven acres of land was purchased from the Earl of Dudley and in 1963 opened as Beacon Centre for the Blind with day centre, facilities, workshops and a residential care home.

In 2010 most of the buildings were demolished and the New Beacon Centre opened.

On May 28 Derek Wharton will speak on Puppets from Around the World.

STOURBRIDGE FLORAL ART CLUB

THE club meeting on April 7 was a workshop organised by secretary Pam Nixon.

Workshops run by Pam are extremely popular and more than 30 members took part in this particular one. New techniques were tried out by aspidistra leaves being manipulated by weaving in colourful medallina and by using many different types of flowers and foliage a variety of arrangements were created on the same theme by club members.

Handmade greetings cards made and donated by members also on sale as well as floristry merchandise. Refreshments were available and it was a very enjoyable evening.

Stourbridge Floral Arts club offers a warm welcome to visitors as well as to new members. Meetings are on the first Monday of the month, there are 10 meetings each year. At most meetings there is from a professional flower arranger whose repartee is both entertaining and informative. Social visits to venues of interest are also held throughout the year.

Meetings are at The Elton Centre at St John's Road, formerly St John's Church members. Meetings are welcome. Call 01384 377593 or visit www.stourbridgefloralartclub.co.uk

Rogue roofers jailed for conning elderly couple

TWO brothers behind a roofing firm which manipulated and frightened an elderly couple into having work done to their home, while overcharging them by more than £1,700, have been jailed.

Jason Charles ripped off Halesowen couple Maurice and Janet Rudge by charging £2,400 to re-point two chimneys and provide scaffolding after he misled them by claiming the chimneys were unsafe.

Charles was caught sleeping on the job, which showed 'obvious contempt to your victims', according to Judge Anthony Potter who jailed the 42-year-old for 18 months at Wolverhampton Magistrates' Court last week.

Jury

Charles, who was found guilty of seven charges by a jury, ran the business PRS Roofing with his brother Dean Powers, 47, of Cherry Tree Lane, Hayley Green, Halesowen. Powers was given a 12-month prison sentence by Judge Potter after being found guilty of two charges at the same trial.

A jury was told Charles, of Birmingham Street, Halesowen, had called on the Rudes' home in Blackberry Lane in August 2011 and told them their two chimneys were in need of re-pointing. He agreed a price for the work but failed to advise them they could cancel the contract. The next day scaffolding was put up but work on their home was left incomplete and the television aerial was cut. An expert told the jury the work was worth £670.

Judge Potter said: "You, Jason Charles, quite deliberately targeted them, whether or not you knew Mr Rudge suffered from cancer I can not say. I am satisfied you knew he had suffered strokes. He and his wife were deliberately manipulated. You are a large man and you would have been an intermediating person to this couple. You frightened them."

The trial also heard how a second couple was targeted. Michael Rimmer paid £2,800 for a fibre glass roof for his home in Halesowen in October 2010. But despite a 30-year guarantee, Charles and Powers were called back to carry out repairs just two years later.

At the trial in March Charles and Powers were both found guilty of participating in a fraudulent business and engaging in a commercial practice which contravened the requirements of professional diligence. Charles was also found guilty of five charges of fraud.

Miss Elizabeth Power, defending Charles, said: "He feels totally and utterly ashamed."

Mr Thomas McGarvey, defending Powers, said: "He wants to make a clean start and leave the building trade behind."

Speaking after the sentencing, Mrs Rudge, aged 79, said: "I hope the Lord forgives them because I certainly won't."

Brownies from Dudley, Lower Gornal and Netherton celebrating at the 100th birthday party

Brownies get together to mark centenary

WHEN it was founded a century ago, the Brownies focussed on activities such as sewing and housework.

Nowadays its members can do everything from abseiling and canoeing to scientific experiments and discussing world issues.

Hundreds of Brownies came to celebrate the organisation's 100-year history.

A total of 291 girls from 21 units within the Brownies' Dudley Division marked the centenary at Black Country Living Museum along with 68 unit leaders.

The youngsters, all aged between seven and 10, sat through an old-fashioned school lesson to learn about how children their age would have been taught 100 years ago.

They were told the story of how the Brownies came to exist around a traditional camp-fire and also enjoyed fairground rides during the

MEMORY LANE

by Will Ackermann day. They put on a colourful parade, walking from the canal-side through the museum grounds in their uniforms and holding flags and banners representing their units, before tucking in to cakes and singing songs.

Smiles

Dudley Division commissioner Edith Jones said: "It's been a wonderful day. Just to go around and see the Brownies' smiles, that's all we want and it tells you that they've had a fantastic day and so have I. It is important for the girls to know about the history."

Emily Barnes, aged 10, from Tividale, who is a member of the 3rd Oakham Brownies, said the Big Brownie Birthday celebrations had been 'totally awesome'.

Doreen Cutler, district commissioner for Dudley East and Oakham, thanked the museum for helping make the day a success.

The Brownies were formed in 1914, four years after The Girl Guides Association, which was launched in response to girls marching through the turnstile at the first Boy Scout Rally at Crystal Palace and demanding 'something for the girls'.

When first established, the organisation was called Rosebuds but the following year it changed its name to Brownies, inspired by the book The Brownies and Other Tales, by Julianna Horatia Ewing.

Brownies joined in the war effort during the First World War, rolling bandages, and collecting books and magazines for injured soldiers. During the Second World War, when many Brownies were evacuated from their homes, some helped raise £50,000 towards the war effort in just one week by cleaning shoes and donating pocket money.

There have been Brownies in Dudley for as long as the organisation has existed.

Birthday skydive for father-daughter duo

Karl Jones with his daughter Eve Jones, aged 17, look to the skies ahead of their joint skydive for Macmillan Cancer

A FATHER and daughter duo are taking their birthday celebrations to extreme heights with a charity skydive.

Karl Jones and daughter Eve, from Stourbridge, will jump from 13,000 ft to celebrate their 50th and 18th birthdays and are raising money for Macmillan Cancer as part of a brave birthday challenge.

The pair, from Western Drive, have booked to take to the skies and tandem sky dive on August 21, Mr Jones' 50th birthday.

Mr Jones works as a community children's nurse at Russells Hall Hospital and said: "I have wanted to do a skydive for a long time but have never got round to actually doing it. When I said I wanted to do one before the big 50, my daughter decided to join in and because we are raising money for such a great cause there is no way I can back out now."

The pair decided to raise funds for Macmillan Cancer because Mr Jones sees first hand the job the nurses do. He said: "I have a lot to do with the nurses through my job and often care is as important as treatment and the work they do is fantastic, I want to support them.

"Everyone knows someone who has been affected by cancer so it is a very worthwhile cause."

Mr Jones and his daughter, who turns 18 on June 30 and is studying for her A Levels at King Edward VI College, hope to raise £1,000. The birthday fundraiser will see them free-fall at 180mph at Hinton, near Oxford, before opening their parachutes.

Buzz about town over bees' favourite bench

A BUSY town centre was buzzing with excitement as a swarm of bees swarmed around the leg of one of the town's benches.

Dozens of passers-by stopped to get a glimpse of the colony of honey bees – believed to be made up of around 15,000 of the insects – that had attached itself to the leg of a metal bench in Stourbridge.

Soon after the swarm was spotted on the bench, near to the town square's historic clock, expert beekeeper Lee Griffin, the treasurer of Hagley and Stourbridge Beekeepers Association, arrived.

Cordon

He quickly set up a cordon around the bees to stop people getting too close.

He said: "I had been in town doing some shopping when I came across the hive."

"It's not uncommon for bees to swarm. It is part of the hive's life cycle but it doesn't usually happen in the middle of a busy town and is not something most people would usually notice."

"It has been really interesting to see how many people where interested in the swarm. It's probably something that most people haven't seen before in their life."

He said the bees likely belonged to a local keeper who hadn't noticed part of the hive preparing to leave in a swarm, a process in which the old queen leaves the hive and takes around a third of the workers and drones with her.

He said that as long as swarms were not disturbed, the bees posed no danger to the public.

More help was quickly at hand when Justus Klaar, a seasonal bee inspector, arrived to clear the swarm using

I don't bee-lieve it... a leg of the bench is alive with a swarm of bees

Buzz off you lot — Justus Klaar uses traditional methods to move the swarm on traditional methods which included a smoker and even a feather.

He said there had already been 14 swarms in the Stourbridge area this year.

He explained that the swarm would be contained and could be safely taken away to a hive he had already prepared.

One of the first people to spot the swarm was 54-year-old Gary Cooper from Stourbridge, who had been sitting on the bench.

He said: "I was sitting there in the morning and when I came back I couldn't believe it."

"I was absolutely astonished to see so many bees in one place, let alone under a bench in the centre of Stourbridge."

Art in ruins at gallery's show

PAINTINGS of romantic ruins, including six never seen before by the public, have gone on display in Dudley. The exhibition, comprising 51 works, is at Dudley Museum and Art Gallery and admission is free.

Views in the exhibition include Priory Hall by HR Dickinson and FH Henshaw's View of Dudley from Wrens Nest. Halesowen-born Amos Green is represented by his watercolour Castles in a Landscape.

There are many pictures of Dudley Castle as well as paintings of Witley Court before it was ravaged by fire in 1937. Other scenes include Dudley Priory, Halesowen Abbey and Ludlow Castle in Shropshire. There are also pictures of scenes on the Continent.

Dudley Council's John Millar said: "This exhibition showcases some real gems of the Dudley Museum collection."

£600,000 boost helping to improve lives of elderly

SIX areas will benefit from £100,000 each as part of a pilot project to help elderly people in Sandwell.

Cash grants are being made available to voluntary and community groups in the borough as part of the scheme to help older residents living in the area. Volunteers could put on exercise classes and offer advice on how to cope with extreme weather.

Under the project extra information could also be made available to point people to lifestyle services such as help to stop smoking and lose weight, and how to reduce the likelihood of slips, trips and falls.

The areas chosen to take part in the scheme are Great Barr with the Yew Tree estate, West Bromwich Centre as well as Greets Green and Lyng, Tipton Green including Princes End and Great Bridge, Oldbury and Langley, Tividale and Rowley Regis, and Blackheath, Cradley Heath and Old Hill.

The service will commence with a one year pilot, starting in September, with options to extend for six or 12 months to enable reviews on how it is going.

The organisations being considered to take part in the scheme are those already delivering services in Sandwell, which are non-Governmental, and who have local bases with locally-advertised telephone numbers.

David Stevens, Sandwell Council's director of adult social care said: "The aim is to help people live healthier lives longer and to remain independent in their own homes."

Organisations wishing to be considered are invited by to request an application pack from adult_procurement@sandwell.gov.uk. The closing date for applications is noon on June 13.

Motorway work is to be limited

MORE than 30 miles of roadworks in the West Midlands have been completed ahead of the big Bank Holiday getaway, highways bosses have announced but drivers still face some 50mph speed limits on motorways in the region.

The Highways Agency says every effort has been made to complete roadworks on the M6, M54 and M6 to M5 link in time for the Bank Holiday on May 26. But speed restrictions will be in place for 14 miles of the M5 between junction 4a and junction six, where open excavations mean works cannot be lifted.

There will also be 2.6 miles of roadworks between junction nine and 10 of M6 as waterproofing work is carried out on a bridge

Special Bafta award goes to actress Julie

Mum was right said stage and screen actress Julie Walters

BLACK Country-born actress Julie Walters was presented with the most prestigious honour at the Baftas ceremony on Sunday – an academy fellowship.

Tributes were paid to her long and 'spectacular' career as she was given the final award of the night at the star studded bash.

The 64-year-old star of Educating Rita, Billy Elliot and several Harry Potter movies, said: "Thank you, what a career."

"When I told my mother I wanted to be an actress back in 1969, and it's alright I'm not going to go through every year of my career, she said 'she'll be in the gutter before she is 20'."

"And she was right. But what a gutter. I've shared that gutter with some of the most amazing and talented people without whom I just wouldn't have had a career."

Walters, from Smethwick, who trained to be a nurse before taking up acting in Liverpool, was presented with the award by friend and fellow actress Celia Imrie.

Paul Webb, from Tipton, whose father Harvey Webb has been awarded the Arctic Star medal

Harvey Webb, seen in later life, with his wartime medals

The destroyer ship HMS Scorpion, on which Harvey served as part of the Arctic Convoys

Son's pride after bravery of his father in convoys is recognised

HE was unable to swim but it didn't stop brave Harvey Webb joining the Navy during the Second World War and serving on the dangerous Arctic convoys.

Mr Webb is believed to have taken part in around 13 convoys, dubbed 'the most dangerous journey in the world' by Winston Churchill, between 1942 and 1946.

And, seven years after his death, the sailor, from Tipton, has been honoured with the Arctic Star medal thanks to the efforts of his proud son Paul.

The medal recognises service between 1941 and 1945 delivering vital aid to the Soviet Union, running the gauntlet of enemy submarine, air and surface ship attacks.

The Government announced last year that Royal Navy and merchant sailors, airmen and soldiers who survived the four-year campaign could apply for the medals.

The campaign cost the lives of around

MEMORY LANE

by Lee Watton

3,000 sailors and merchant seamen, and over 100 civilian and military ships were lost, with the nadir coming in the summer of 1942 when convoy PQ17 was mauled by the Luftwaffe and nine U-boats.

Beyond the threat of the enemy, the men endured terrible weather conditions, the darkness of the polar winter and 24-hour daylight at the height of summer. If ships were sunk, sailors perished in minutes in waters barely above freezing.

Mr Webb's son said his father had rarely spoken of his wartime experiences and it was only in recent years he had learned more of his exploits at sea.

And the 60-year-old had 'made it his mission' to ensure his father received the accolade for his efforts during the conflict.

"It has been a long process because the medals were first issued to surviving veterans, then their widows and finally next of kin," he said. "However I am delighted my father has now been presented with the award. All those who served on those convoys were very brave."

"My father was unable to swim although I assume it would have been a requirement for service in the Navy. I don't know how he did it but he got through."

Mr Webb said after joining the Navy at the age of 18 his father trained at HMS Raleigh, at Torpoint, in Devon, and had wanted to serve on the HMS Hood.

Bismarck

He was instead assigned to the HMS Scorpion where he was a gunner.

Although he was disappointed at the time it saved his life as the Hood was sunk by the German battleship Bismarck.

Mr Webb said: "If my father had his way at the time I would not be here now. His friend was assigned to the Hood and was killed."

His main assignment during the conflict was on the Arctic convoys, escorting Merchant Navy ships filled with supplies being transported to Murmansk in Russia. It was the convoys' mission to protect the ships from attack by German U-boats.

The convoys to Murmansk were renowned as being among the toughest with conditions rough and icy.

Mr Webb said his father had also been involved in a battle with the German ship Scharnhorst.

That ship had been hit and the sailor helped to pull many of the German crew from the water.

He was also in the fleet which escorted Winston Churchill across the Atlantic to America for talks with the US President.

Mr Webb attended the Central School, in Tipton, and is survived by son Paul and daughter Sharon. He has three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr Webb said: "I wanted to do this for him to recognise his service during the conflict and I am really pleased he has now received the award."

Buddy's musical legacy raves on

Buddy: The Buddy Holly Story, Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton
ON February 3, 1959, the world lost Charles Hardin Holley. But Don McLean was wrong. It was not the day the music died. Buddy's legacy lives on.

Buddy the stage show is celebrating 25 years, itself an indication of the influence the man had on the music scene. It's the story of the tragedy of an untimely death yet from the wreckage came some of the greatest music ever heard. And Oh, Boy! How this show delivered. — Heartbeat, That'll be The Day, Peggy Sue and Rave On, a constant reminder of Holly's talent. Here was a man ahead of his time. In Glen Joseph, this Grand production, which runs until Saturday, has a man who has the looks, personality and sound of Buddy off to a tee. He was ably supported by a superb cast, who all deserve acclaim.

There was the odd laugh providing a light-hearted touch at what is ultimately a poignant look at a too short-lived existence. Who cannot fail to be moved by such songs as it Doesn't Matter Anymore, Raining In My Heart and True Love Ways? With a well-deserved standing ovation at the end, this faultless show is a must-see for Buddy Holly fans.

Wolverhampton teens Callum Osbourne and Harry Ondrak-Wright in Lord of the Flies

Savage energy on display as schoolboys go wild in theatre

McBusted, EofE, LG Arena
STARS in the making Dudley band EofE were best of three supports for McBusted as they caught the ears of 13,000 with a mash-up of Michael Jackson's Billie Jean with Nirvana's Smells Like Teen Spirit.

It nicely warmed up the crowd of McFly and Busted fans as 17-year-old singer Tom Harris, of Netherton, proved a plucky frontman, whilst Dan Bremner, 19, of Gornal, was adept at classic rock guitar poses. They impressed alongside other up-and-comers Young Brando and Hollywood Ending. EofE showcased new single Lust and free download Kiss Me Like You Mean It.

McBusted feature six of the two bands' original seven (ex-Busted frontman Charlie Simpson is resolutely solo). McFly shot out of the stage as the Busted duo arrived in a Back To The Future DeLorean to play a 100 minute set featuring all the hits from Air Hostess and Year 3000 to 5 Colours In Her Hair and Obviously. They do it all again on Tuesday.

Leon Burakowski

Lord of the Flies, Birmingham Hippodrome
CHOREOGRAPHERS Matthew Bourne and Scott Ambler take William Golding's novel about schoolboys reverting to tribal violence on a jungle island and relocate it in an abandoned theatre where the boys are trapped when sheltering from a riot. It meant his New Adventures dance company made full use of the Hippodrome, though confusingly the setting still echoed to jungle sounds. The stranded party of well-drilled uniformed schoolboys rapidly turned into a feral gang of swaggering bullies with painted faces, whooping and grunting as they hunted younger or more timid boys. The production featured 22 amateur dancers from the Midlands and it was to their credit that, apart from their youth, you could not easily tell them from the New Adventures professionals. Take a bow Black Country boys Brad Guest, Dereece Leigh-Gayle, Declan Lewis, Harry Ondrak-Wright, Callum Osbourne. Bourne's ballet has menace, especially a dream scene where pig-masked hoodies manhandle one of the boys, and a stunning score of propulsive music by Terry Davies.

Company payroll donation is big bonus for the zoo

TWO ring-tailed lemurs were among the animals to benefit from a recent cash donation to Dudley Zoo from a Black Country employment and training group.

The Dudley workers nominated their local zoo for a donation from their award winning payroll giving scheme.

Andy Christie, who works in the King Street offices of Pertemps People Development Group, made the suggestion to support after getting support from his colleagues and he got to meet the cheeky Lemur Wood boys when he handed over the donation.

"I'm new to the business but thought the scheme was something

I wanted to be a part of," said Andy. "I pass the zoo on my way to work, it's somewhere we all take for granted but I didn't appreciate that it was an educational charity with such a focus on animal conservation."

The company previously supported Dudley Zoo by encouraging staff to see for themselves what a fantastic day out is to be had at the Castle Hill attraction.

"I made a suggestion to our payroll giving scheme and was delighted when a contribution of £315 was agreed," continued Andy. "When you talk of Dudley everyone mentions the zoo, so we're keen to promote it wherever we can."

£12m skills centre for builders at the college

BOSSES behind plans for a £12 million construction training centre in Dudley say they hope it will support the industry's recovery.

The new facility has been earmarked to join other developments in the town's Learning Quarter by Dudley College chiefs.

Officials have revealed the scheme has been included as part of the Black Country Local Enterprise Partnership's bid for £56 million from the Government's Local Growth Fund to support projects across the region.

If successful, building work would begin on the new centre, called CABTech, in September 2015 with the centre opening to students in Spring 2017. It would include teaching and workshop facilities to train people in both traditional and new construction skills.

Under current plans the centre would be built next to the Dudley Advance building in Priory Road.

Dudley Advance is the college's new centre for Advanced Manufacturing an Engineering Technology which is due to open this Autumn.

Bosses say creating the two specialist centres on Priory Road would bring together skills development and facilities.

The new building would also allow the college to relocate its existing craft and trade skills workshops from its Mons Hill campus into the Learning Quarter.

The Local Enterprise Partnership's funding bid is to support the Black Country Strategic Economic Plan, which aims to make the area a better place to live, learn and work.

Officials said securing funding from the Government through the Local Growth Fund would see the college investment in the town total £50m.

Investment to date has funded a new vocational training centre and A level centre alongside the refurbishment of an existing building into a sculpture workshop.

Two residential properties have been transformed into specialist centres for students with learning difficulties and disabilities.

Dudley College principal Lowell Williams said: "Our ambition to support the recovery of the construction industry in this country is driving this new addition to the Learning Quarter."

"With construction being recognised by the UK Government as one of the 10 key sectors driving economic recovery, it's imperative that current and future workforces are trained and ready to meet the challenges the economic up-turn will bring."

Our plans to develop a centre that can provide modern and progressive training for an industry that has relied on traditional training routes and methods will help to increase employment across the sector."

Placard-plea Paul is back on jobs trail

A MAN who took to the streets of the Black Country pleading for a job before Christmas is looking for work again.

Paul Hyde from Wolverhampton was finally offered work at Great Plane Alloy in Brierley Hill in February but his contract recently came to an end. The 52-year-old says he is now considering taking to the streets again with his home-made sign.

"Anybody can queue for a job, you have to do something that will make you stand out. When you walk along the Wolverhampton ring road with a sign, it shows you are determined to work," he said.

Mr Hyde, who lives in Finchfield Road West, said he had never been unemployed until he was made redundant from Wednesfield-based Eurofast just over a year ago.

He spent one year before Christmas pounding the pavement around the Chapel Ash Island in the city armed with a home-made placard.

50 Years of BBC2 Comedy (BBC2, 9pm)
BBC Two's 50th birthday backslapping began in April, but who can blame the powers-that-be for making the most of its milestone anniversary? As this programme reminds us, when it comes to comedy, the channel has a lot to celebrate. Right from the start, BBC Two was the home of groundbreaking and iconic shows – in its first year alone, it gave us The Likely Lads and Not Only... But Also. This year's W1A proved, BBC Two isn't afraid to laugh at itself either, but for tonight, a who's who of British comedy – including Ricky Gervais, Eric Idle, Michael Palin, Terry Jones, Vic and Bob, The Goodies, Ian Hislop, Sarah Millican and Prunella Scales will be singing the channel's praises and discussing their own contributions to five decades of laughs.

Phillip Schofield

The British Soap Awards 2014

(ITV, 8.15pm)

It's a tense time for soap fans – there's the ongoing mystery of who killed Lucy Beale on EastEnders, and Coronation Street is launching a whodunit of its own this week. But if you just want to know who the sexiest male in soap is, you're in for a much shorter wait as Phillip Schofield hosts the British Soap Awards from the Hackney Empire in London. It's a chance to look back over 12 months of drama in Walford, Weatherfield, Hollyoaks, Emmerdale, and Doctors' Letherbridge, including one of the biggest TV talking points of the year – the death of Corrie's Hayley Cropper, with David Neilson and Julie Hesmondhalgh (aka Roy and Hayley) are in the runner for Best Actor and Actress respectively, as well as Best On-Screen Partnership.

Pick of the Week

Family matters to Gabriel in new series

Gabriel Byrne may have lived in the States for some time, but when he was offered the chance to return to Dublin for this new series, he jumped at it – and it's little wonder.

Based on John Banville's thrillers, the series has gone down a treat in its native, but now the Beeb has snapped it up, in a major Anglo-Irish co-production, we get to see for ourselves what all the fuss is about. And if you like your thrillers dark and mysterious, it won't disappoint.

Quirke opens in the late autumn of 1956, where a hungover city pathologist known only as 'Quirke' (we never get to know his Christian name) stumbles from a late-night party in the nurses' quarters. He hopes to sleep in his subterranean pathology lab. However, his adoptive brother, obstetric consultant Malachy Griffin, is at our hero's desk completing paperwork for Christine Fallo, a recently deceased patient.

When Quirke returns the following morning, Christine's body is gone and the medical expert is curious about his brother's strange behaviour. Further investigation suggests Mal was the father of Christine's child, and he believes the youngster has been spirited away to America under the wing of the Catholic Church.

Quirke follows the trail to Boston, accompanying Mal's daughter – Quirke's niece Phoebe – on a last visit to her ailing grandfather. He eventually uncovers the truth about a family secret that has remained buried for nearly two decades.

Byrne explains of his alter ego: "I think that most people can relate to a wounded past. Some people are more adept at dealing with it, and some people are much more delicate and sensitive and I think Quirke is one of those people who hides his vulnerability and his pain underneath and exterior of detachment.

"His work as a pathologist; I always thought he was much at home among the dead than he is with the living and for him, in a strange way, the dead are still living creatures and he's the last one really to take care of them so that space where he works is very sacred to him."

It helps that Byrne's passionate about the genre in which the series falls, as he says: "Mystery and enigma are fascinating because it forces the audience to raise questions about the character. That's not to say that all characters are enigmatic and mysterious - some are very obvious - but I like the idea of hiding in plain sight and allowing the audience to play that game with you."

Like Jack Reacher fans smarting over the fact Tom Cruise played their giant of a literary hero a couple of years ago, fans of the Banville novels may take umbrage at the fact Gabriel isn't 6ft 4in, doesn't have the feet of a dancer or blond hair. It scarcely matters. Byrne is compelling in the lead, and with a supporting cast including Michael Gambon, you know you're in safe hands.

Gabriel Byrne heads the cast of Quirke, Sunday, BBC1, 9pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

Britain's Got Talent

ITV, 7.30pm

Ant and Dec present the first live semi-final, which sees nine of the 45 chosen acts compete to impress the judges and secure the all-important viewers' vote. At stake is the chance to appear at this year's Royal Variety Performance and win a life-changing cash prize of £250,000, but first the contestants have to win one of two coveted places available in the final. And if things don't go to plan on stage, the hopefuls can still be buzzed off - so the pressure is on to prove they've got what it takes

What the Dambusters Did Next

Channel 5, 9pm

What better film for a Bank Holiday Monday than a rousing, fact-based wartime drama? The Dam Busters certainly meets that remit, and sure enough Channel 5 are treating us to that classic Michael Redgrave and Richard Todd flagwaver this evening. But have you ever wondered what became of the brave pilots of 617 Squadron after Operation Chastise, the famous May 1943 raids on the Ruhr and Eder valleys? This documentary combines archive footage, testimony from veterans and experts, and dramatic reconstructions to recap the events of 1943, and examine some of the squadron's subsequent missions. They include a daring night-time bombing raid on a strategically important canal, during which the crews faced a ferocious barrage of anti-aircraft defences.

TUESDAY

Welcome to Rio

BBC2, 9pm

You'd have to have been living under a very large, soundproofed rock to have not noticed that the world is football mad this year, thanks to the 2014 World Cup – and all eyes are on Rio de Janeiro. But this stunning series isn't about the football – it's about the lives of the city's residents, and the daily goings-on in the favelas. As Rio prepares for the World Cup and the Olympics, the Brazilian government has launched a military campaign to wrest control of the areas from drugs gangs; a process known as Pacification. This first instalment comes from one of the first favelas to be pacified, Cantagalo, and one of its residents, Rocky, is a delivery man who works everyday, hauling fridges, ovens and televisions on his shoulders, to support his family.

WEDNESDAY

Del Boys & Dealers

BBC1, 9pm

It's probably a bit unfair to describe the people featured on this programme as 'Del Boys'. You could, however, argue that some of them are a tad eccentric. Take Sharon and Al, for instance. They usually deal in novelty goods and use a hearse as their premier mode of transport – perhaps they're big fans of The Munsters. They're travelling to France in it this week, where they hope grab some great deals at a local auction, despite not knowing the lingo. Canterbury women Stevie and Denise have a more down-to-earth approach to raising funds – they bought a bundle of second-hand clothes at auction and are literally hoping to turn rags to riches via a market stall.

THURSDAY

Meet the Police Commissioner

Channel 4, 9pm

Just two years ago, police forces up and down the country felt the biggest shake-up for 50 years when elections resulted in the appointment of 41 Police and Crime Commissioners – a venture which cost £75million, but strangely enough, resulted in the lowest voting turnout since the Second World War.

Consequently, the small turnout meant that some obscure, perhaps 'eccentric' candidates were voted in. This Cutting Edge documentary hears from Ann Barnes, Police and Crime Commissioner for Kent, who was initially against the introduction of PCCs, adamant that the whole idea was naïve.

However, she later decided to offer herself forward as a potential for the role. Her first year in office has been tumultuous, to say the least...

Honda's automatic miracle

By John Griffiths

And now for something completely different: well, for me anyway.

Honda's new and much improved NC750S was designed to be a new style of fun but user-friendly form of two wheeler with the option of a hi-tech automatic gearbox. And it certainly adds a new dimension to motorcycling.

If you have any preconceptions about auto gearboxes based on the traditional continuously variable transmissions (CVT) used on small scooters then forget it.

Honda's DCT system much more responsive, quicker and more efficient. It's an electronically-controlled dual clutch system very similar to the 'DSG' used in Audis, VWs and some high performance sports cars.

It was first revealed about four years or so ago as an option on the big VFR1200 and the NC700, and that now fitted to the NC750 is effectively the second generation, mated in this case to a bike with more power and torque than its predecessor.

This was the first time that I had ridden a bike with this system and found it something of a revelation. It is almost, if not impossible, to stall, it's silky smooth and snatch-free at low speeds and one of the easiest bikes I've ever ridden.

Add to that its light weight, low centre of gravity and excellent balance, and it's ideal for town traffic as well as rewarding on the open road, too.

It wasn't built for sports bike performance, with a modest 54bhp from its 750cc twin cylinder engine. But that is 75cc larger than its NC750 predecessor and therefore comes with a useful extra helping of power and torque for surprisingly peppy performance.

The NC750S is an adventure style machine with a particularly comfortable saddle and upright riding position, providing comfort and an excellent view ahead. If you don't fancy the styling Honda has used the same underpinnings for the Integra – a big scooter – or the trailie styled 750X.

There's a lot of innovative design involved, particularly in making the 750cc twin one of the lightest engines of its kind. It's also fitted with balancer shafts which very successfully smooth out vibrations.

Once on the move I couldn't actually hear the engine above the wind in my helmet (the flip front kind which is, admittedly, notoriously noisy). That's a shame since while pulling away the slow 'thump thump' of a big twin was pleasantly nostalgic for those of us around in the Sixties.

The Honda also differs from most competitors in that it has a 'boot'. The fuel tank is under the seat, and what appears to be a tank in front of the saddle is in fact a lockable cargo space big enough to take a full-face helmet.

On the auto version, manual or auto gearchange mode is selected with a trigger switch on the right hand grip, while a thumb switch selects neutral, drive or sport modes.

Honest

With your left hand (which, of course, has no clutch to worry about) you use either a finger or thumb for manual up or down changes. To be honest, I didn't bother much as for a riding style which goes with this kind of bike the auto mode is perfectly suited.

For the die-hards amongst us, a foot pedal for manual gearchanging is an optional extra.

In Drive mode the electronics get you into top (sixth) gear as soon as possible – usually under 40mph and will hold you there as long as it can. I found it the best choice around town and on the motorway, and it would no doubt reduce the risk of spinning up the back tyre in the wet.

There is the equivalent of a 'kick down' for overtaking. Give the throttle a determined twist of the wrist and the electronics interpret your intentions, changing down one or two gears probably as quickly as most riders for a burst of acceleration.

Or you could just press the 'down' button a couple of times, of course.

Gear shifting is seamless at any speed adding to the bike's characteristic smoothness.

In Sport mode the gearbox hangs on to the lower gears for longer and to higher revs – you usually need to pass 60mph to get top for example – to make more of the Honda's performance potential.

I found it better than 'drive' for more challenging, twisty roads as it also changes down more readily, giving you more engine braking while setting up for a bend or roundabout. And more flexible drive and acceleration out the other side, naturally.

Drive mode is obviously the economical option, with a remarkable 81.6mpg average claimed for the NC750S.

That's Honda's figure but I don't doubt its accuracy. I chose some of the most challenging b-roads I know on the Welsh borders for the test ride, and even in Sport mode still averaged over 74mpg.

The bike's low centre of gravity and excellent frame make it a nimble, really 'flickable' machine, unlike some of the bigger, heavier enduro machines, which really flattered my riding style.

The NC750 has only one, instead of the usual two, discs at the front but braking is nevertheless well up to stopping a machine of this weight.

It probably won't appeal to the sports bike enthusiast, but with its user-friendly nature and economy, particularly around town, it may well tempt a few commuters on to two wheels.

Price: £6,299 (manual transmission) £6,899 (DCT).

Top award for the Jazz

Honda's popular Jazz supermini has scooped the Most Reliable Used Car in the Auto Express Driver Power survey, with an impressive reliability score of 98 per cent.

Up 1.2 per cent on 2013, the British-built Honda Jazz climbed two places to take the top podium finish in this year's results.

The 2014 Auto Express Driver Power survey asked more than 50,000 car owners to rate their used cars in ten different categories including reliability, performance, road handling and practicality. The Honda Accord was also placed highly, with a score of 95 per cent, earning fourth place in the build quality category.

Philip Crossman, managing director, Honda (UK) said: "This is great news for Honda and a testament to the great cars we manufacture here in the UK."

"The Jazz has always been a strong performer in terms of reliability and the 2014 Auto Express Driver Power Survey award further reinforces the success of the car".

The Auto Express Driver Power Survey is Britain's most influential car reliability and satisfaction survey, with more than 50,000 customer and readers taking part in this year's poll.

The survey reveals the top 150 cars, new and used, to own in 2014.

The award follows a string of recent successes for the Jazz and for Honda cars on the whole.

Honda Jazz variants took the two top spots in the 2013 Which? Car Survey Supermini Best Buy category. Owners placed three Jazz variants in the Supermini chart top ten, taking first and second with the current models. As a further boost, Honda cars feature prominently throughout the survey as being amongst the most reliable in their categories, with older and newer generations featuring alongside one another.

The Jazz is available with two snappy i-VTEC petrol engines - 1.2 and 1.4 - and Honda's efficient hybrid IMA technology.

Days of wine and prizes for runners

Running

ATHLETES from Dudley Kingswinford Running Club certainly made hay while the sun was shone this weekend and claiming the prizes although rather than a trophy cabinet it may be a wine rack that is needed based on what the runners received.

On Saturday the blue hoops registered a team in the British Masters Road Relays Championships.

The event held at a sun-drenched Sutton Park attracted teams from around the country with Altrincham AC, Les Croupiers from South Wales and Salford Harriers claiming the medals in the M35 age group.

DK finished in 32nd place on the day. Their six legs of three miles taking a total of 1.58.32 with Phil Smith clocking 20.17, Mark Judge 20.27, Dave Norman 18.50, Richard Jones 19.49, Graham Wildgoose 19.54 and Gary Bonner in 19.15.

Twenty four hours later a small group of DK runners travelled the short distance towards Hagley to take part in the Cobra Classic 10k road race event.

A testing road race where the first half is flat and even slightly downhill but the second half more than makes up for it as the course rises steeply and the runners would be better off with mountain climbers' crampons rather than trainers.

This adds a good three or four minutes to a standard 10k time as the lactic acid builds up in the legs and runners are reduced to a shuffle because of the incline.

Dave Norman was first back in 13th place in 42.38 in his second race of the weekend, Graham Wildgoose claimed the 1st MV50 place in 23rd in 45.36, Helen Tromans also claimed an age group prize bagging 1st

FV40 in 24th place in 45.59, Mark Homer finished in 47.26 for 29th place, Mark Judge was 38th in 49.25, Carol Fisher was 1st FV50 and 59th overall in 55.00 and Debbie Richards was 82nd in 1.02.22.

Elsewhere in deepest Shropshire Preston Grundy completed the Wenlock Olympian Society Marathon in 7.16.57.

Taking on the shorter version Dave Hickman was 25th in 2.03.46 to claim the 1st MV50 medal and Dave Fennell finished in 2.04.35 in 29th place to claim the MV50 2nd place.

Gardner is happy to come 'back home'

CRAIG GARDNER has predicted returning 'home' will bring out his best after the former Villa and Birmingham midfielder sealed his free-transfer move to Albion.

Gardner put pen to paper on a three-year Hawthorns contract with a one-year option.

He passed his medical on Monday and will join the club officially on July 1.

And the 27-year-old, who is originally from Solihull, was released by Sunderland following three years on Wearside, reckons returning his native West Midlands will see him shine for the Baggies.

"It's a pleasure to be here," said the Brummie. "It's a great club. I've got a lot of friends here and I'm just buzzing that I'm back at home in the Midlands where I enjoy my football the most and feel I play my best football."

"I was linked with West Brom previously and I was just praying it happened this time. Now eventually it has I'm over the moon."

"People say you have to be happy at home to be happy in your job - and when you've got your friends and family around you encouraging and supporting you then that's when you'll play your best football."

Gardner became Albion's first signing of the summer just four days after the club kicked off a major summer revamp by releasing five players in addition to the five loanees who have returned to their parent clubs.

And the 2011 Carling Cup winner says former Blues team-mates Liam Ridgwell, who was among those released, and Ben Foster helped ease through his move to The Hawthorns along with the chance to link up again with former Black Cats team-mate Stephane Sessegnon.

"Fozzy is a good friend and it's the same with Ridgy as well," said Gardner.

"They've always said good things about the club. But they didn't need to sell it to me because I was already taken. It's a great place."

"Sess is a top player. I'm looking forward to playing with him again."

Gardner will meet his new team-mates for the first time when he reports for pre-season training in early July.

Director of football administration Richard Garlick is delighted to have strengthened the club's midfield options.

"Craig is someone we have followed for a long time and we are delighted to finally get him," he said.

"We tried to bring him here in the January transfer window but it did not work out."

"He has the flexibility to play in a few positions across the midfield."

Bugner back in Blighty for dinner speech

Joe Bugner and Earnie Shavers, left, square-up during their visit to Wolverhampton Boxing Club

IT was a case of no place like home for heavyweight great Joe Bugner when he dropped in to Wolverhampton Boxing Club with fellow former fighter Earnie Shavers.

It was a whistle-stop at the gym, before the pair moved on to the city's Novotel Hotel for an after-dinner speaking slot on a show promoted by Gary Bate.

Hungarian-born Bugner's family relocated to Britain when he was a boy and he went on to become a three-time European heavyweight champion, plus a two-time British and Commonwealth titleholder.

He said: "It's great to be back in England among proper boxing fans, I consider this place my home even though I am enjoying the sunshine in Australia. It's like catching up with old friends!"

A world crown eluded Bugner until he picked up the WBF belt at 48 but he shared a ring with legends like Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier, before the 64-year-old retired for pastures new.

Shavers also fought "The Greatest" in a points loss but had him in all sorts of trouble when they also boxed for his WBA and WBC belts in 1977, in what was termed 'Ali's Desperate Hour'.

The champion escaped with the decision on points. .

Losing toss sets the tone of match

Stourbridge 2nd XI 104 Bromsgrove 2nd XI 306-4

(Bromsgrove win)

LOSING the toss did not help skipper Mikhesh Patel taking on Bromsgrove one of the top sides in the Division two 2nd XI South.

Heat came from the bat of No.3 Duncan Roke who piled up 176 with 21 fours and eight sixes.

Things did go from bad to worse for the home skipper as his side collapsed at 104 on the 35th over. Opener Alex Spence 26 and James Winders 39 were the backbone to the Stour's brief innings that contained six ducks.

Stourbridge 3rds XI 93 Kempsey 1sts XI 174 (Kempsey win)

Skipper Dave Colesby resigned to the fact that his team was facing the 1st XI decided to bat first having won the toss.

His hopes of decent score failed to materialise Stour all out for 93 in the 48th over Irfan Ahmad top scored with 20 towards the end of the innings.

It took Kempsey just 14 overs to overtake Stour target. Tristan Robinson made 55 with eight fours and two sixes.

Big gap in league TV perks

WOLVES might be record-breaking League One champions - but they are paupers when it comes to this season's TV revenue.

The release of payments to Premier League clubs shows a huge contrast between the top flight and League One.

While Albion earned £8,648m from their nine live screenings this season and Villa £13.05m from their 16 appearances, Wolves earned just £135,000 for their five slots before the cameras.

Premier League clubs are paid up to £1m per live match screened, League One clubs receive just £30,000 as the home team and £10,000 as the visiting side. Albion's TV income and prize money amounted to £65.79m

Foot on the gas time for Cradley

CRADLEY have been warned to guard against complacency by boss Will Pottinger ahead of a big spell of meetings.

Heathens face three matches on the next two Tuesday nights at Wolverhampton - starting with the visit of Kent in National League action on May 27.

Then they will be staging a double-header on Tuesday, June 3 - but the order of meetings is currently to be confirmed.

They will be up against Scunthorpe in a league match and will also race the second leg of their Knockout Cup tie with Mildenhall on the same night.

Admission prices have been set at £14 adults, £10 concessions and £2 children for 30 heats of racing.

Heathens went to Mildenhall and pulled off a stunning 10-point win on Sunday with big hitters Steve Worrall and Paul Starke in brilliant form.

Boss Pottinger said: "We were chuffed with the performance, everyone put in a shift and did really, really well."

"We have got to stay focused and give a professional performance in the second leg though because it's not over yet. It was a very promising performance but we can't afford to take our foot off the gas."

Year only for Albion strip

ALBION'S controversial break with tradition for next season's kit design will be for one year only.

The club, which has faced an angry backlash from supporters riled by reports of a "pinstripe" design for the 2014-15 campaign, have already ordered their colours for the 2015-16 campaign.

And the club will then be reverting to a much more traditional blue and white stripe with new kit suppliers Adidas.

Discontent with the rumoured design for next season prompted a Facebook campaign against the idea.

Speculation on the social networks have portrayed the new kit as abandoning the traditional thick blue and white stripe that has been Albion's trademark.

The club concede the kit is a departure but insist there has been no accurate depiction of its true design.

Team GB are marked men warns Kristian

KRISTIAN THOMAS has admitted Great Britain are marked men as they look to retain their European Championship title.

The Wolverhampton gymnast is targeting gold in Sofia when they start their defence on Thursday.

The team became the first GB men's side to claim a major title two years ago before winning team bronze at London 2012.

Thomas' stunning high bar routine in Montpellier clinched gold and he knows they are expected to challenge again.

"It's a completely different this time. Two years ago were going in looking for a medal but now we want to retain the gold," he said.

"We've won medals at internationals for the last few years and it's a different approach this time with a lot more pressure."

"The biggest rival is Russia, they have a very strong team and if we can keep them off our backs then hopefully we can do the job."

"France, Germany and the Ukraine are there, it's fairly open. I'd say it's between us and Russia for gold but the bronze medal is up for grabs." Thomas will compete in the floor, vault and high bar with senior qualification starting on Thursday and the team final on Saturday.

A strong performance will virtually guarantee him a spot in the England squad for the summer's Commonwealth Games.

And Thomas also wants GB to lay down a marker ahead of next year's World Championships.

"We are getting there. We have stayed together and expect to be winning World Championship medals as a team in Glasgow next year," said Thomas, who will also compete in the individual finals on Sunday should he qualify.

"Japan, America, China, Russia and Great Britain are all gunning for a shot at the medals."

"There's going to be more pressure put on us for Rio but we're mentally tough enough to deal with that." The men arrived in Bulgaria after a historic competition for the Lilleshall-based women's senior and junior teams. They both won team silver while Ellie Downie won British gymnastics' first ever women's all-around medal in a European Championship.

Hurry up sale Villa warned

VILLA are still in limbo as Ken McNaught insisted the club will suffer if the uncertainty continues through the summer.

The claret and blue favourite reckons fans will become restless should the club not come up with a clear plan.

Boss Paul Lambert and chief executive Paul Faulkner are back in the UK after meeting with owner Randy Lerner in New York last week.

They are expected to reveal Villa's short-term plan soon after Lerner confirmed he will sell the club.

Lambert's spot is unclear, although he is expected to stay as manager for now.

"It's a worrying time for Villa fans at the moment," said McNaught, the 1982 European Cup winner, who also played for Albion in the mid-80s. "It has been tough for the last few seasons but the fans, to their credit, have continued to turn up every week to support the team. "They have been brilliant with the support they have shown but clubs can't expect that kind of loyalty forever, especially with everything which is going on."

Gera's goodbye to the Albion

HAWTHORNS hero Zoltan Gera has said a fond farewell to Albion insisting "I've enjoyed every minute".

The fans' favourite is one of 10 players to depart in a dramatic end-of-season clearance, bringing to an end a successful Baggies career.

"I enjoyed every minute I spent here," said the 35-year-old.

BAD FORM IS CAST OFF IN DERBY WIN

Halesowen First XI 194 Stourbridge First XI 195-5
(Stourbridge Firsts win)

STOURBRIDGE First XI leaped up from fifth to second position in division two of the Birmingham and District Premier league by beating local rivals Halesowen.

Needing to reverse an inconsistent form so far this season Stourbridge notched up an important victory.

They were up against a new look Halesowen side with Faisal Shahid at the helm replacing Wes Griffiths.

On a hot day Shahid called correctly at the toss of the coin and batted hoping for a total past the 200 mark. Pace man Matt Bradley made the early breakthrough for Stour with the score on 11 taking the wicket of Mohammad Shauib judged LBW for 1.

Delighting

Former Stourbridge player, No.3 Wes Griffiths and the opener Kester Moseley took the score to 53 when Griffiths was caught from the bowling of James Wood for 18, delighting Stour's players.

The biggest partnership of the innings was built between Moseley and the skipper Shahid they progressed the score to 103.

Next to go was the skipper falling LBW to Audy Alexander for 22 in the 34th over total on 104.

With a run rate just over three an over Stour's effort were paying off despite the two chances that went begging. Sixteen year old Dion Patel, No. 5, joined the opener Moseley with a mission to accelerate the run rate.

Stourbridge's opening partnership of 21 between Alex Bingham and Steve Game set the tone for their reply. Bingham who had played two consecutive square cuts off Dan Jones was first to depart with his score on 10.

He was caught in the slips on a rebound from the keeper Jones getting the better of Bingham. Game and Richard Bradley batted for nine overs putting on 48. Drinks taken on 17 overs Stour were well placed at 68-1 needing 127 for victory.

The cautious Bradley was a victim of LBW to the spinner Zain Shahid for 27. In the next over Game, who looked solid in defence, went in the same way off the bowling of Richard Brooker for 25.

The number four Audy Alexander and batting at 5 Josh Banks both fresh at the crease were confronted with producing 127 off 19 overs for victory. Both kept the score moving with classy boundaries.

Bush Athletic double up to retain dual titles

Bush Athletic Football Club have enjoyed another good season holding onto both the league and cup. The team is both Dudley and Cradley Heath Football Premier Division Champions and Thornleigh Freight Trophy winners. Bush achieved the double after defeating Pensnett United 4-2 in last Sunday's Thornleigh Freight Trophy. They won the league sweeping aside allcomers while remaining unbeaten. They ended by winning 13 and drawing 1 while scoring 84 goals and conceding only 17.
